ADVERTISING AS FACTOR IN BETTER BUSINESS

Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, declares that newspaper advertising is one of the most important factors in restoring normal conditions in business. In a recent statement he said: .

world today so far behind the times as to question the value of advertising. The results of this medium of trade stimulation have been too evident to make it necessary to contend that it is possible to reduce taxes without reduction. We all have seen the phenomenal growth of ing revenues? various American firms which have been consistent and prolific advertisers. We all know, too, that when we are in the market for a product, be it an automobile, a radio, a hat, a collar or a can of paint, we make our decision largely as a result of advertising we have read.

"While admitting the value of advertising in general, there are just now certain manufacturers and retailers who are permitting the present business depression to influence their advertising policies. They believe it desirable to reduce expenses and they find it simple to lop off. a certain proportion of their advertising appropriation. This, in my opinion, is a short-sighted policy and one which will prove a decided disadvantage in the long run.

"It goes without saying that an increased demand for consumer goods will put more money into circulation. and such a development will, of course, be an imporvertising, the business man has an unexcelled agency with resources!

> When the government at Washington, in control of the Democratic party, during the period of the World war, was handing over to Europe billions of dollars of American money, did it ever stop to consider that that money might be needed here again some day and that the loss of it would eventually destroy the prosperity of the American people?

If we are going to continue to spend millions for this mprovement and millions for that improvement and millions for a bridge and millions for a driveway and then issue millions in bonds for anything and everything, how "It is doubtful if there is any one in the business are we going to reduce tax bills and bring the cost of operation of every government, state and local, well within the limits of reduced revenues? Restrict Bond Issues

(The Prairie Farmer) Lewis Taylor of the Indiana Farm Bureau has been doing some plain speaking on the subject of bond is sues, and all taxpayers would do well to heed what he has been saying. There will always be plenty of people, particularly those with an axo to petitions for construction of new roads, schools and bridges, etc. "If the farmors want to escape higher taxes due to more bond Issues and additional appropriations," says Mr. Taylor, "they must adjourn corn plowing or hay harvesting to provent these ceifish intorests from creating jobs for themselves at the expense of the taxpayers. It can easily be done. . . Time spent in saving taxes is more valuable than time epent in producing extra corn or bay to pay an increased

How true that is! Public expenses are the cause of taxes. The most dangerous expenses are those paid by bond issues. They do not have to be paid for now, so we don't pay much attention to them. One way to reduce taxes is to spend less money and issue fewer bonds.

Why Not Tax the Rich?

The tederal government is facing a deficit of nearly a billion dollars, with the probability that this will increase to two billions within the next year. Secretary Melion is said to favor a federal gasoline tax to cover part of this deficit. He would. That would take the money from the average run of folks. Flushing American Eagle Covey in "War Debts Moratorium"

Blind

When the organized militant taxinyers of Wankegan began to ask Vashington for the Hoover administration's definite attitude on the cancellation or revision of war debts, they did not appreciate that perhaps, they were flushing the covey of tho internationalists who are now credit ed with a previous plan to frame their, schemes for debt deadbeating in France during the summer and then spring the trap on unsuspecting Americuns just prior to the convening of Congress which apparently was expected to rubber stamp its O. K. on the new system of running America from London and Paris or Indirectly via Berlin. The little questions began to grow, a mile high and the administration rushed to shut off premature discussien by announcing a moratorium for one year; however, France put in a stop order on the Hoover gesture with the net result that old fashtoned diplomacy is to have its innings so that alten politics may involve Uncle Sam in the European messes. in spite of the managed "moratorlum" stock market boom of the hour, the reactions are looking serious for President Hoover because the great newspaper magnate, who largely caused Hoover's nomination, has declared, "I, for one, declare here and now for Calvin Coolidge for the next President of the United States" in an article headed, "American Taxpayara OFFICE SEEKERS

Reed is asserting that President Hoover's attempt to commit the United States not Chicago solve its own public debt to the war deht moratorium of one year is without the slightest authority under either the constitution or the statutes and that the attempt of tho international capitalists to impose upon the American taxpayers the foreign debt burden is unjustifiable and infamous. About a dozen American finansion collected from the undersigned billion dellar financial group in Chi- cial firms are being credited with pricago feels about using the American ately loaning the Germany's one and taxpayer to guarantee some billion one quarter billion dollars while other Americans have invested one and dustries. Some fancy this two and three-quarters billions of dollars is in jeopardy if Germany adopts a commune government in lieu of the Bo-French parliament on its amendments

Apparently, President Hoover rushed lato a European political trap the American Eagle and so the alten up its invalid ordinance; however a than cheat them out of the war less diplomats are side stepping for time until the gun is loaded for that eagle's tail feathers now and later the pin

There is not going to be any moratarium an the questions that will be asked by taxpayors when congress cenvenes or in the next election and consequently ultimately the globe may learn all about the alian propaganda which was intended apparently to deadbent the American taxpayers out of billions of dollars loaned to the Alltes. In the meantime, alten diplomacy will probably save its face, and the Hoover moratorium, which has many ear marks of being made ubroad to stop the little questions of the American taxpayers who may have flushed the covey at just the right

The American taxpayers are watching developments with much interest at a time when they are about broke and in no shape to stand another quarter of a hillion tax increase to make good the real defaults by France and England which seem to be putting Germany forward as a foll for the ultimate repudiation of their war debta to the United States. However, the ballot box ig still a defense against the schemes of the internationalists, and their dupes in the United States

THE KITCHEN CATCHES UP

IF A MODERN WOMAN could reverse Rip van Winkle's adventure and wake up in a typical kitchen of twenty years ago, she would have surprises aplenty in store for her. She would remember what she has almost forgotten-how tedious kitchen chores used to be. And chances are, she'd feel like Cinderella, committed to a life of drudgery before a black, ogreish cook-stove.

Kitchens were huge in those days. They took up a whole wing of the house. Floors were bleached from many scrubbings and rag rugs marked the spots where women spent most of their time—standing before the stove, the sink and the big center table.

The cook-stove dominated the room. Its massive iron body, towering high against the wall and trimmed with lavish scrolleries, had to be blackened once a week. In many cases it had to be fed with wood or coal. Here the homemaker established her fame as a hostess. When everything was finally "on", simmering away, she could drop into her nearby rocker to sew-and keep an eye on the oven. During summer months she almost roasted herself along with her dinner.

Milk, eggs and butter were kept in a cellar "cool spot" and a dozen trips down and up had to be made every day. All kitchen work was done by hand. No wonder this back room used to be the homemaker's living room.

The welcome change followed closely on the heels of the World War. A new freedom for women was ushered in - and largely responsible for it was the new kitchen. It shrank in size to save steps. Color was introduced to cheer it up. And gas and electricity were put to doing a variety of routine tasks—tasks that they could do more efficiently and in a shorter

Ugly, black cook-stoves became compact porcelain ranges fueled by electricity or gas and styled for beauty and convenience. Their ovens were insulated so as not to add to the heat of the room. Their heat could be kept automatically at a given temperature. Meals could be left to cook themselves. And the homemaker came out of her kitchen-to spend pleasant afternoons with her friends.

. Mechanical refrigerators now keep healthful cold locked up in porcelain cabinets. Motor-driven ventilating fans whisk cooking odors out-of-doors. Automatic mixers whip cream, mash potatoes, beat up cakes. Incinerators deal with the garbage problem. Dishes can be washed and dried electrically—and a gas-fired water heater in the basement provides all the hot water needed at the turn of a faucet.

The Public Service Company has shouldered an active responsibility in the equipping of these new kitchens in northern Illinois. The development of leisure-giving appliances has not been left to chance. Because it has given much attention to the requirements of customers, the Company has been able to offer definite specifications to manufacturers for the improvement of appliances of all kinds. As a further safeguard to housewives, the Company submits all equipment displayed in its stores to severe laboratory tests - sells only appliances that will give long, satisfactory service.

Refrigerator Experts Tell Best Compartments to Place Food

After this past week of swellering heat, during which the ice melted with lightning rapidity and mitk acured if anyone looked at it crossoyed, housewives are more than ever convinced of the importance of pruper refrigeration.

But do all women use their retrigeralors to best advantage? Many times, it is a case of "shove, fit, and like it!" when food articles are placed in the Icebox. Ne thought is given to the facts that milk is better on the ice, tomatoes will deteriorate if alwed to romain in frigid air.

As they walked along toward Mist valley, Toppy learned more about his strange companion.

"Most people hate falcons, and inughing Intcons, particularly," the bird explained to him. "A long, tong the falcons. They never entirely conquered them, and one species dared to laugh to show they dld not care. Since then, we have always laughed, to keep up the tradition, and we have always been hated. "Didn't you have any falcon friends?" askod Toppy.

"No, we never have any real Inlcon Irlands," the bird explained "We un the Irland again. derstand ench other too well. And there are not many of us left. I have not seen a fulcon in this land for a long time."

The time passed quickly as they talked, and presently they reached the top of a long hill. "Look!" cried the falcon: "There is Mist valley."

And thore was Mist valley, spread before their eyes. It was, truly, a valtey of mist, an ideal place, thought Toppy, to train soldiers. He peared down, trying to see if any soldlers had gathered there, but the mist prevented him from seeing clearly.

ANTIOCH INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE IS RE-ORGANIZED

First Game Played In New League Is Taken By Team No. 1

Antioch's Indoor-Couldoor Basebal Lengue passed away la lufancy last week, but has been born agala. Because it was soon that the Moose team far out-classed any of the other leanis, the Firemen, the Town leam, or Peachendale, it was decided to reorganize the teams in the lengue, to the hetter interests of fair play, sportsmanship and more equal competition. Changes have been made in the porsonel of tho tonms, which are now called by numbers-1, 2, 3 and 4 The last game of the former league was played at the grade school last Thursday hetween the Town team and the Firomen. The Town team husiness men enjoyed a regular slug fest with a final total of twenty-two runs as proof. The Firemen made olght runs.

Mastne Town team hurler, camo back to his old good form, and allowed but sevon hits. An unusual fact noted was that every man on the Town leam made at least one run. Hughes mado a remarkable record of five rans, and China and Middleton each mado three.
